Wainer to negotiate cut-rate abortions

By David Kaplan

Gov. Wainer, formerly a vocal abortion foe, has been appointed to negotiate with the American Medical Association (AMA) to bring down the cost of abortions. The governor, who has been a vocal opponent of the procedure, is expected to meet with the AMA in the near future. The governor's move is seen as a significant shift in his position on the issue, and is expected to lead to a negotiated settlement between the two groups.

Wainer, a TV news host, expressed his opposition to the procedure in a recent interview. He said that he believed that the procedure was "a very serious matter" and that he was "not in favor of it." However, he also said that he was "not in favor of the AMA's position" and that he was "not in favor of the AMA's position."

Old habits die hard in abortion

Fear outlives the law in the south

By David Kaplan

Despite the passage of the law, fear of the procedure is still a major factor in the decision to abort. The law, which was passed in the south, has been a source of controversy and has led to a number of deaths. The fear of the procedure is still a major factor in the decision to abort.

The first of these is the fact that the world is not a homogeneous whole. It is made up of many different parts, each of which has its own characteristics and its own study the world as it is, and not as we wish it to be.
